

Asia Literacy Week Primary Schools Prize

The Asia Literacy Scholarship Fund has established its first primary schools prize to promote the teaching of Asian perspectives. The prize will be awarded in the second half of 2012 to support schools in the develop of Asia Literacy Week. Selection criteria and applications processes will be available by the end of the year. Prize details can be found at http://www.asialiteracy.org.au/Scholarships_Prizes.php

In 2011, Asia Literacy Week is planned for 28 Nov to 2 Dec. Ideas from last years Asia Literacy Week included Japanese face painting, explorations of Asian art, student explorations of business links with Asia, environment related projects or introduction to an Asian language. If teachers wish to contribute to our Ideas Bank, please feel free to email us at Info@AsiaLiteracy.org.au or submit a form at http://www.asialiteracy.org.au/Asia_Literacy_Week.php.

Great Wall Charity Trek 2012

22 Sep – 4 Oct

Early Bird Introductory Members Special

$3,199

Includes land, airfares, taxes

Registrations for the Asia Literacy Great Wall Charity Trek are now open with a special introductory member price of $3,199, all inclusive. Upon registration participants will be provided with a fund raiser pack, with all donations going to the Asia Literacy Scholarship Fund. Donations to the fund are tax deductible for Australian tax residents.

The trek is designed for people with moderate fitness, and will involve 3-5 hours per day on 5 different sections of the Great Wall north of Beijing. Check out the Google map links on our website. These will be day treks, so participants only need to carry a personal day pack. Accommodation will be in local hotels and guest houses. After the trek there will be time for some exploration of both Beijing and Shanghai.

This would be an ideal experience for both students and teachers. Member prices are available to individuals and teachers/students from schools holding corporate membership. The introductory special is available for registrations before 15 Nov 2011.

Sponsors of Asia Literacy Week 2011

Teachers of Science, Biology, SOSE and Geography, we can now offer you some innovative and exciting, low cost international programs to support classroom teaching. These programs are designed and managed by teachers with a passion for environmental conservation, and operate across South-East Asia.

The programs are well structured and teach conservation and ecology from a social perspective, showing students how communities in Asia are modifying economic practices for the benefit of the environment. Students will engage with diverse cultures, endangered species, world heritage rainforests and parts of Asia where Australians have had many decades of interaction.
